

ENTERTAINMENT, COMMUNICATIONS & MEDIA

Overview

TressCox has established a reputation as having the largest and the leading media and entertainment law practice in Australia, providing commercially informed, specialised legal advice to our national and international clients. The firm has received accolades for ten consecutive years in the Entertainment category of the independent legal industry guide, Legal Profiles.

The media and entertainment services team has extensive experience in the corporate, commercial, financial, tax and personal services demanded by private and corporate clients alike. Our experience in all areas and on all sides of the media and entertainment industries enhances our services to clients.

We represent a wide range of individuals and businesses in film, television, music and new media industries. Our clients include well known Australian and international producers, film directors, personalities, financiers and underwriters, merchandisers and subscription TV broadcasters. We are recognised for our ability to achieve our client's commercial and strategic objectives.

TressCox is listed as a recommended law firm in the Asia Pacific Legal 500 (2007) for Telecommunications, Media & Technology.

Services

Film and Television

TressCox is recognised as Australia's largest film practice. We act for both producers and investors in connection with Australian and international productions. We act for the British Broadcasting Corporation in Australia and have been a member of the legal panel of the Australian Film Finance Corporation since 1991. Credits include Star Wars Episode II and III, The Quiet American, Moulin Rouge, Farscape, Chopper, Lantana, The Piano, Oscar and Lucinda, The Man Who Sued God and Greencard.

We advise on:

- Acquisition of rights and chain of title
- Production and investment structuring, advice and documentation
- Financing, including public fundraising
- Co-productions (including off-shore) and joint ventures
- Industrial awards including negotiation of MEAA
- Cast and crew agreements
- Clearances and product placement
- Bonds and insurances
- Distribution and licensing
- Exploitation of ancillary rights, eg Soundtrack Albums
- Merchandising
- Legal advice on the investment of $16 Million of concessional capital raised under the Flick Scheme.

Music

Music forms an important part of our practice and we act for developing and leading artists including major Australian bands and individual artists, as well as major and independent record and music publishing companies. Our experience includes the negotiation and documentation of agreements for recording, music publishing, management, merchandising, licensing, distribution deals and business structures for bands.

We advise on: recording, music publishing, management, touring, merchandising, music licensing, pressing and distribution deals, endorsements, video production, bands, business structures for bands, soundtrack and cast albums, and naming and sponsorship deals.

Fashion

TressCox has built a substantial practice around providing commercial advice to the fashion industry. We assist clients in creating agreements with suppliers, manufacturers and distributors, protection of their intellectual property and trade marking, and can offer advice on care labelling and country of origin labelling.

Our employment specialists can advise clients on the engagement of outworkers and other industrial relations issues. We deal regularly with the TCFUA and represent employers in all sectors of the industry regarding outworker Award compliance, union right of entry and in the defence of prosecutions.

Subscription TV

TressCox were solicitors to the public float of Australia's first subscription television company, Australis Media Limited in 1993, and the firm continues to act for participants in the Australian pay TV industry, including channel providers and distributors.

Our services includes:

- Advice concerning the Broadcasting Services Act and the Radiocommunications Act
- Liaising with government and statutory authorities including the Australian Broadcasting Authority and the Spectrum Management Agency
- Transmission and receiving equipment supply agreements
- Program production and acquisition
- Subscription contracts
- Employment and talent agreements
- Protection of ideas, concepts, formats and brands
- Litigation / dispute resolution.

Internet and multimedia

The internet and e-commerce provide both opportunity and danger for businesses, requiring careful consideration of multi-jurisdictional legal issues. Our team has experience in providing services to businesses embracing ICT issues, as well as to start up ventures.

Intellectual Property Exploitation

We are experts in assisting our clients to identify and commercially exploit intellectual property. We recognise that the management of intellectual property rights is crucial to taking advantage of emerging revenue or strategic opportunities.

Media and Broadcasting Regulation

It is essential for our entertainment and media clients that they are up to date on the regulatory requirements or restrictions on how their products or programs are used.

Production Structures

We advise on the appropriate legal and trading structures for our client's activities. It is essential that production or trading structures are appropriate in the context of treaty, industrial, liability and asset protection issues. This is particularly the case for international film financing and subscription TV and free to air television distribution.

Project Financing

We have considerable expertise in the strategies of both project and operational financing for entertainment and media activities. We assist clients with contacts, structures, and the negotiation and documentation of deals. Naturally, we also assist in monitoring compliance with project financing structures.

Advertising and Marketing

We have a strong background in advertising and marketing. We act for consumer product manufacturers, pharmaceutical companies and insurers as well as owners of internationally known household brands. We assist our clients in trade practices compliance and brand management and extension.

Employment and Industrial Relations

We have extensive experience in services agreements and industrial relations in the particular context of entertainment and media activities. We regularly negotiate customised agreements for individual artists or personalities and advise on enterprise or industrial agreements as they apply to clients' projects.

Trade Practices

We offer considerable expertise in the areas of trade practices and competitive conduct. We advise on exclusive dealing, unconscionable conduct and other anti-competitive activity, particularly where they clash with intellectual property exploitation.

Defamation

TressCox is experienced in advising on potential defamation issues and is familiar with defamation law in all Australian jurisdictions, as many of our clients' products are exploited nationally. We understand that defamation actions can be costly and time consuming for any business and advocate the importance of prevention. Through our Entertainment and Media division, we have a wealth of experience reviewing documentation for defamatory statements prior to publication. We take a commercial approach to advising on what will be defensible if an action is brought against the business. Members of our Commercial Litigation Division often work with the Entertainment lawyers and have considerable experience in defending and prosecuting defamation actions.
